Solar Designer
Remote Position

This position functions in a senior-level engineering technician capacity. With minimal supervision, this person will perform advanced functions requiring knowledge and use of electronic applications, standards, and document control processes/procedures in support of creating and modifying deliverables. May provide technical guidance and direction to other engineering professionals including delegation of work assignments.

Nuclear Safety Engineer
Richland, WA

This position involves executing assignments concerned with specialized or unique engineering/scientific requirements. This person has the technical responsibility for independently interpreting, organizing, and coordinating these assignments. This involves exploration of the subject area, the definition of scope and may involve the development of novel concepts, approaches, and solutions.
